

I'm Mark Chauppetta, a 40 year old father of twin boys who suffer from Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy. Everyday, I see my boys struggle. This disease is a terminal, muscle-wasting condition. To raise awareness and funds, I fought in a stadium before thousands of spectators. I trained with some of the biggest names in mixed martial arts. The bout was held in my hometown of Brockton, Mass, which is renowned for many legendary fighters. My doctors and my friends warned me not to do this, yet I know that any adversity and danger that I encounter is nothing compared to what my twins face everyday. I'm a father, a fighter, and this is A FATHERS FIGHT.
